Prenup Roadmap

MASON LAW
& MEDIATION

A prenup is a thoughtful way to plan your financial life together. It creates clarity around important decisions and helps both partners understand the plan you're building. Our process is designed to make those conversations clear, balanced, and respectful of your relationship.

1 Understand Your Goals

You begin by clarifying what you and your fiancé want your financial life to look like—during your marriage and in the unlikely event of a future separation. We help you understand how the law would apply to you and how a prenup can create clearer expectations tailored to your circumstances, values, and long-term planning.

2 Choose the Right Support

A well-crafted prenup supports your relationship. The professionals you work with should combine strong financial and legal experience with a thoughtful, relationship-minded approach. Once retained, these professionals will guide you through a deeper review and analysis of the law and how it may apply to your agreement. Whether you choose attorney-led or mediator-led negotiation (with individual consulting attorneys), the goal is a constructive process that protects both partners and the relationship you're building.

3 Define Your Economic Partnership

You'll exchange financial information, identify the topics you want to include—such as division of property, equity compensation, business interests, spousal support, and inheritance rights—and evaluate whether modifications to the default law will better reflect your shared goals. We help you translate those decisions into clear terms and a balanced framework that works for both of you.

4 Draft, Review, and Finalize

Once terms are agreed upon, we prepare a thoughtful, tailored agreement for review and refinement. Each partner works with their own attorney to review the agreement, ask questions, and confirm that the terms reflect their understanding. When the agreement reflects your shared understanding, you sign with confidence and a clear, reliable plan for the future.
